Section 10: Change or Loss of Employment

The Alternate Tax Year appeal is available to families who have experienced an involuntary loss of employment or reduction in income since 2022. This appeal allows you to request a re-evaluation of your financial aid package using the figures from your parent(s)' finalized 2023 or 2024 tax return or your parent(s)' estimated 2023 or 2024 income. If your appeal is approved based on your parent(s)' estimated income, you will be required to submit their finalized tax documentation. Fluctuations in yearly bonus income alone will not be considered as a reason to appeal for use of an alternate tax year. Please note the deadlines listed in the instructions below.

All parent(s) noted in your application will be required to submit documents for the tax year in question. If your parent(s) file separately (whether they live together or apart), both parents will be required to submit the supporting documents listed below. If we use a more recent tax year for a custodial parent, we will also use that tax year for the noncustodial parent and vice versa. Both households will be required to separately follow the steps in the chosen option below.

Question 1: Do any of the following circumstances apply to your family's change or loss of employment?

- A change or loss in income due to a medical emergency or injury.

We are collecting this information to gain a better understanding of your family’s financial circumstances. Your initial financial aid eligibility will be based on the 2022 tax year. If we decide to use estimated 2023 information, we will require copies of the parents’ 2023 federal income tax returns by June 1, 2024. If we decide to use estimated 2024 information, we will require copies of the parents’ 2024 federal income tax returns by March 1, 2025. If the respective filed returns are not received by the deadline, we will revert to the 2022 information. If actual 2023 or 2024 income is higher than projected, the financial aid award will be adjusted appropriately. We re-evaluate need-based financial aid eligibility each academic year.

INSTRUCTIONS: This is a fillable form. Please enter your actual 2022 information from your tax return, and complete the 2023 and 2024 columns with actual or estimated information. There are separate sections for taxable income; adjustments, deductions, and taxes paid; and untaxed income. Please check your numbers against current paystubs and adjust taxes paid to reflect the actual/expected increase/decrease in income. Attach documents (recent paystubs; job loss documentation; etc.) supporting your estimates.
