If you will have difficulty providing this information, please contact our office. Columbia's policy views financial aid as a partnership between the student, the biological or adoptive parents, and the school. While the application process has requirements for the student and both parents, the university recognizes that unusual or complicated family circumstances can prevent the completion of a financial aid application. If you are not in contact with your Noncustodial Parent, you can submit a request to waive the non-custodial parent requirements. If you would like to request a Noncustodial Parent Waiver Request form, please contact our office.

² Please answer for the year in which the student applicant will begin enrollment at Columbia University. Enter the # of students (including the APPLICANT) who will be enrolled in college for 2026-2027 (the APPLICANT's 1st year at Columbia). Do not include parents in # of college students. If a PARENT will be enrolled as a student in 2026-2027 please explain in SPECIAL CIRCUMSTANCES.
